MR. LENZ, THE BICYCLIST

Consul Tyler Gives the Result of Inquirles About Him.

Nothing Learned in Regard to Him After He Left Erzeroum, in Asla Minor.

Assistant Secretary Uhl of the State Department has received a dispatch from Mr. John Tyler, vice consul general at Teheran, Persia, in regard to the disappearance of Mr. Lenz, the American bicyclist, who was on a wheeling tour round the world. He acknowledges the receipt of instructions to investigate the matter and says that it had been previously brought to his attention. Inspired by motives of friendship and humanity, and being aware of the difficulties and dangers of the road which Lenz is supposed to have taken, the vice consul general says he had already made every possible inquiry at Teheran and at Tabriz, where Mr. Lenz was last seen by Americans and Europeans in Persia. To his regret, however, he failed to obtain any news of him beyond that he had got safely out of Persia and had reached the Turkish town of Erzeroum, in Asia Minor. "In view of the fact that Mr. Lenz's fur-ther progress toward Constantinople," says Mr. Tyler, "would be through or near the town of Sivar, I wrote to the United States consul at that place asking him to make inquiries on the subject and report the result to the department. I have no doubt this was done, although I have received no reply to my communication. In the mean-time, other people as well as myself have given every possible attention to the sub ject and have neglected no means whatever, within our power, both by telegraph and letters, to ascertain the cause of Mr.

"When he was in Teheran he had a rathe severe attack of malarial fever, but he left to those who are acquainted with its course it can be removed by ordinarily simple remedies, it is not infrequently the forerunner of typhoid fever, which, without proper medical treatment and careful attention, is very apt to develop diffand dangerous symptoms, which rapidly prove fatal. I hope in this case nothing of the kind has happened, and most of Mr. Lenz's acquaintances here think it unlikely and hint that it is possible he may have fallen into the hands of and been held by brigands. As Mr. Lenz reached Erzeroun about the end of May, and consequently had left Persian territory, I hardly know what more I can do, except to continue my inquiries. As other people here are inter-ested in his safety, his friends may rest quite assured that no means will be ne-glected which might bring to light his present position.

Want a Hearing.

Dr. J. B. Gregg Custis, chairman medical legislation of the Washington Homeopathic Medical Society, has requested the Commissioners to give that society a hearing upon the bill proposed by the health other before it is approved by them. He says they entirely agree with the bill, but have some amendments which they believe will add to its efficiency and to the facility of its passage.

Messrs. Whitaker and Prevest write to the Commissioners today stating that at present there is vacant ground opposite the end of Wallach and Caroline streets, respectively, which may be at any time built upon, and suggesting that some action be taken by the Commissioners which would afford public knowledge to the effect that the Commissioners intended to extend the street through that square. This course, they say, would prevent building, and there by not increase the cost of condemnation to the property owners whose land will abut upon the proposed street. Granted a License. Capt. H. B. Elliott, after passing a satisfactory examination as to qualifications and fitness, has been granted a first-class steam
